Communication from R. S. Jensen

A communication was read from R. S. Jensen of the Palace Grand Theater calling the attention of the Board to the fact that almost every evening articles are stolen from automobiles parked near the theater. The communication called attention to the necessity for protecting these machines, particularly as many of them belong to out-of-town patrons who have a right to expect such protection when they visit Glendale. In conclusion the communication requested that the Trustees give the matter consideration and decide whether it is necessary to detail a special officer for this service between the hours of seven o'clock and eleven o'clock p. m. daily. On motion of Trustee Henry the matter was referred to the City Marshal.

ACROSS THE WATERS

MRS. J. H. FLOWER AND DAUGHTER TELL OF TRIP TO NEW ZEALAND

On the last day of April, 1919, Mrs. J. H. Flower and her daughter, Anna May, left Glendale for the long journey across the mighty Pacific. They were in San Francisco five days awaiting the sailing of the Moana, an English steamship. Mrs. Flower, who was in rather feeble health when the start was made, suffered considerably from seasickness, but the daughter had only one day's siege of "mal de mer" and then not another touch of it. The route led far south of Honolulu and when out about six days the equator was crossed. The first stop was on the 13th day out, at Papeete, on one of the Tahitin Islands, belonging to France. They are about 12 degrees south of the equator and produce many kinds of tropical fruits. France has been very kind to these black wards of hers and each one is granted a parcel of land at birth. There are many islands in the group, so the land will not be all taken up for many years, as the natives do not have large families. They go from island to island in small sail boats and canoes and some of them live in the larger cities on the main islands while their lands are on others. Cocoanuts and bananas are the principal products and these they are very

H. V. ADAMS HERE

H. V. Adams, the well-known Chautauqua lecturer, returned last Sunday from his summer Chautauqua trip. Mr. Adams lectured in practically all of the central states, from Ohio to Nebraska, and was gone twelve weeks.

On the first of October, Mr. and Mrs. Adams will leave for the east for his winter Lyceum trip, which will extend through the south central states. He will be gone for six or seven months.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL TEACHING FORCE COMPLETE

With the hiring of Mrs. Jessie H. Hunt as relief teacher in the Columbus Avenue School, the teaching force of the Grammar Schools is complete and everything is ready for the opening next Monday. Mrs. Hunt has owned a home at 459 W. Maple for several years, but has been renting it, as she taught elsewhere. Now she will occupy it with her five daughters, two of whom will attend Glendale High School. She will act as relief teacher until the kindergarten room is finished and that department installed therein, when she will be given regular work.

CATALINA OUTING

Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Shives Mitchell, and baby son, Billy, of King City, Paul and Alexander Richardson, returned Thursday from Catalina, where they had been staying at the home of Mrs. John Bloser for a week. They greatly enjoyed the bathing, rowing and fishing, the boys having some fine sport catching sharks at Pebbly Peach after dark.

DR. THOMPSON SUED FOR $25,000

A suit was filed Thursday in the Superior Court which will be of considerable interest to many Glendale people. Dr. Elmer Thompson of Burbank has been sued for $25,000 by Dr. Rossiter, who went there a few months ago from Brea to take charge of Dr. Thompson's practice and the Burbank Hospital for a year, he asserts. He charges that Dr. Thompson's resumption of practice in Burbank and vicinity is a breech of this contract.

SCHOOL BONDS SOLD

The $100,000 issue of school bonds recently voted for were sold last Monday at a premium of $425 for the entire issue. They draw 5 per cent interest. As soon as the sale is approved, plans will be made for the improvements they are to pay for.

MRS. FINLAY HOME

She was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Alice Finlay, who is returning to her work in the Mission Field in Southern Japan. Miss Finlay will speak Sunday morning at the Casa Verdugo M. E. Church and Sunday evening at the Presbyterian Church. She was formerly associated with Dr. Soper in Japan in the same field.

LANSING QUOTED ON TREATY QUESTION

SECRETARY SAID IT WOULD BE DEFEATED IF UNDERSTOOD BY SENATE AND PEOPLE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, September 12.—William G. Bullitt, chairman of the Division of Current Intelligence of the United States peace delegation testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations committee today declared that Secretary Lansing told him on May 19, "if the Senate understands and the American people understand this treaty it will be defeated."

He said Lansing added, "but I wonder if they will understand what the treaty lets us in for. Senator Knox probably will really understand it and Senator Lodge will, but Lodge's position will be purely political. Senator Knox might instruct the people.."

Previous to this testimony Bullitt showed the committee a document he said was the original of President Wilson's draft of the League of Nations plan written personally by the president.

He also showed the committee copies of General Smuts' and Lord Robert Cecil's original plans for the league. He said these drafts soon gave way to plans drafted by British lawyers.

GERMANY WARNS U. S. TO REJECT TREATY

FEARS POWER OF AMERICA AND WOULD HAVE HER STAY OUT OF LEAGUE SAYS PRESIDENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

COEUR D' ALENE, Idaho, September 12.—Invading the home of Senator Borah President Wilson today addressed a big crowd in a tent erected here. His address followed a fourteen-mile automobile ride from Rathdrum where his train stopped.

Wilson declared the Germans are now fraternizing with the Russian Bolsheviki hoping to dominate Russia and rebuild their strength by new conquests.

He said the United States must guarantee peace in order to prevent the success of Germany's plans.

"Germany wants us to stay out of the treaty," the president explained. He said Germany fears the strength of the United States and so wants the United States to remain out of the League of Nations and become isolated.

The United States cannot afford to reject the treaty he declared and must ratify it to prove that we meant what we said when we went to war.

"It was America that saved the world," he cried, "and those opposing the peace treaty propose that having redeemed the world we now desert the world." He expressed amazement at those who are seeking to flatly reject the treaty.

Declaring the failure of the United States to enter the "new world arrangement would bring universal disorder as there is now universal unrest" he warned that none should think that America is immune.

He characterized the Boston policemen's strike as an intolerable crime against civilization, and cried, "I know what I am talking about."

He declared there is grave danger of the minority gaining control of affairs in the United States.

BOSTON QUIET THIS MORNING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CAPETOWN, South Africa, September 12.—The National Assembly of the Union of South Africa ratified the peace treaty at a session today.

OTTAWA, Canada, September 12.—After a session lasting nearly all night the Canadian House of Commons ratified the peace treaty this morning.

There was no dissenting vote.

PERSHING LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON

QUITS NEW YORK ON FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF STARTING OF ST. MIHIEL DRIVE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, September 12.—General Pershing left for Washington this morning at 8 o'clock, just one year to the hour from the time of the starting of the big St. Mihiel drive.

BANQUET, LA RAMADA

DELIGHTFUL OCCASION ENJOYED BY BAPTIST WOMEN AND HUSBANDS

Entertaining the men of the church at a banquet at La Ramada Thursday evening, the ladies of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist Church were in turn entertained by the men who gave the program following the banquet. This is an annual affair and one always anticipated by the men who enjoy the good dinner and the opportunity to "show off."

The banquet was prepared by the R. T. W. class of the Sunday School, the tables being arranged in the arbor.

After the delicious dinner had been served and all had joined in singing, "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow," Eugene Haines, who had been chosen as toastmaster, stated that the program was to be a "Hidden" program. This was a surprise to the guests and to the widely known and much-loved poet, Mr. Hidden, who was present.

Mr. Haines very cleverly introduced the various speakers, each of whom gave a poem by Mr. Hidden. Rev. E. E. Ford responded to the toast, "Our Pastor," W. W. McElroy gave "The Passing of a Chicken," Mr. Chandler, "Our Commission," Mr. Hidden, "The Value of a Life." Miss Inga Patterson, a missionary worker who was present, spoke upon Christianizing America. The program closed with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

LARGE MACKEREL CAUGHT

Samuel Frank of 340 West Doran has the proud distinction of having caught the largest Spanish mackerel hooked at the long wharf, Santa Monica. He and his wife were down there yesterday and while she was able to catch only a few small ones, Mr. Frank hauled in the Goliath of the tribe. A small fish had taken his bait and the big one made a rush, grabbed the victim and was himself caught. Mr. Frank, considerably excited, began to reel in his line and it was only after a protracted fight that he was able to haul in his catch. It was fully two feet long and weighed 6 pounds. Deep sea fishermen who are regular habitues of the pier, and Clifford Oliver, a buyer, said they had never seen so large a mackerel. It was a great day there for fishing, one man hauling in 17 halibut.

BIBLE CONFERENCE

(Fourth Annual)

The Glendale and San Fernando Valley Fourth Annual Bible Conference will be held at the Glendale Presbyterian church, corner Broadway and Cedar street, October 1-5. The conference motto will be "Maranatha" (Behold He cometh). The sessions every afternoon and evening will be open to the general public, and every one will be most cordially welcome. Dr. A. C. Dixon, of London, England, will be the principal speaker, giving two addresses, one at the opening of the conference, and the other Sunday afternoon of the closing day. Other speakers will be Dr. F. W. Farr, Rev. Geo. W. Davis, Dr. G. M. Rourke of Long Beach, Dr. French E. Oliver, Dr. G. A. Briegleb, Prof. H. W. Kellogg, Dr. James R. Pratt, Dr. Campbell Coyle, Dr. R. W. Cleland, Rev. S. P. McLennan of San Pedro, and Rev. W. E. Blackstone. Never has so strong a list of speakers been brought to our city for a conference. List of topics, etc., will be published in these columns from time to time.

STOCK JUDGE

S. B. JOHNSTON RETURNS FROM THE NORTH WHERE HE ATTENDED SHOWS

S. B. Johnston of the Johnston Tire Company has just returned from a trip to Washington and Oregon where he has been judging poultry and livestock. Mr. Johnston follows this calling as a diversion from his tire business and has a national reputation as a livestock judge. He has judged some of the largest shows and world's fairs in the United States.

Mr. Johnston is not only a judge, but a breeder and fancier of stock. He is the originator of the "Ringbar" Barred Plymouth Rocks. He gives glowing reports of the big shows in the north and says the fairs are being well attended.

This is beautiful weather—days so sunny and balmy and the nights so clear and cool—just typical California climate.

ANOTHER BURGLARY

DR. ROY V. HOGUE'S RESIDENCE AT 230 W. COLORADO ENTERED AND ROBBED

Dr. Roy V. Hogue, who lives at 230 West Colorado, corner Central avenue, was a victim of the mysterious burglars last night. All the family went out for an auto ride at 8 o'clock and did not return until 9:30. They found the lights on in dining room and living room and evidence that every room in the house had been ransacked from top to bottom. Drawers, cupboards and closets had been emptied and the contents strewn about the floor. An inventory was soon taken and the discovery made that shoes, clothing, legal and other papers, silverware, small jewelry and other articles had been taken. A pocketbook containing only two or three dollars, was missing, also two razors of the famous Wolstenholme make that had been in the family for several generations and which the Doctor still used.

Entrance was gained by cutting out a screen on the east side of the house, then raising the window. The burglars were remarkably bold, for they turned on the lights in the rooms facing on Central avenue, where the curtains were up, permitting a view from the walk only six feet away, and unconcernedly ransacked the rooms. Doctor Hogue thinks they were scared away by the return of the family. Among the papers taken were many of no money value, some of them belonging to Mrs. Addie Allen, mother of Mrs. Hogue. It is probable the burglars threw these away and if any such papers are found, bearing the names of Hogue or Allen, they should be promptly turned over to Dr. Hogue, who will appreciate the favor.

It is thought the burglaries of the past several weeks were all the work of a gang of boys who know Glendale thoroughly and watch certain houses to find the owners away temporarily and then rob them. The safest plan for householders is to never leave their homes entirely unoccupied.

MRS. NEIGHBORS ENTERTAINS

Mrs. S. S. Neighbors was hostess Wednesday afternoon at a very dainty luncheon served at her home, 1431 East California, at which Mrs. Streight and her daughter, Mrs. Schwab, who recently returned from a trip to the Santa Clara valley were the complimented guests. Others present were Mrs. Duke, Miss Hutchins and Mrs. Eugene Haines. After the dainty luncheon of chicken and other good things the ladies produced work bags and chatted happily to the accompaniment of fast-flying needles.

MEN ALLOWED

MRS. RASTUS RAINBOW'S RAGTIME TEA NOT FOR "LADIES ONLY"

Some of the men of Glendale have become greatly excited over the announcements in Los Angeles papers that seem to indicate that men will be excluded from the minstrel show that is to be given this evening at the home of Mrs. Ella Richardson. The ladies in charge of the show and especially Mrs. Richardson wish it understood that men will not only be allowed, but they are cordially invited and urged to come. Mrs. Richardson says she is partial to men and would not countenance an entertainment at her house where the sterner sex was barred. Moreover this entertainment is given to put the Community Sing on its feet and the help of the men is greatly needed to do this.

Those who know say this is going to be the funniest thing ever. The dusky beauties who will perform tonight should have the support of a large audience.

ENTERTAINS AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. D. W. Cunningham of 602 N. Orange street entertained at luncheon yesterday friends from Montrose and La Crescenta. The house was beautifully decorated with marguerites and dahlias. Those present were Mrs. J. M. Porter, Mrs. J. Lunsel and Mrs. C. C. Horton of Montrose, Mrs. R. D. Baldridge of Anadarko Ranch, La Crescenta, and Mrs. E. N. Weaver of Glendale. Music, dancing and conversation served to while away a very pleasant afternoon.

AN ANNEXATION TRICK

"Los Angeles will get you if you don't watch out," is the warning sounded out to Glendale by some of the bitter opponents of annexation of La Crescenta to Los Angeles. This timely warning comes after a general propaganda by Los Angeles annexationists, to the effect among some of the people of La Crescenta that they have been completely reversed in their opinion of annexation. At first they opposed it, now they favor it.

Some of the leading and influential men and women of that city have been completely won over by the flattering promises given by Los Angeles. But when the tax collector comes around after annexation has been effected even the more well-to-do citizens will then awaken to the avalanche of debt they have cut loose from the mountain of debt-burdened Los Angeles bearing down upon them. Then there will be a howl, but it will be too late, the "jig is up."

The great slogan among the annexation propagandists in La Crescenta this summer was for "a city that stretches from the "Foothills to the Sea." Now that may have sounded quite nice to some of the citizens of La Crescenta hoping for an opportunity to "live in the city of Los Angeles, and yet breathe the balmy air of the country on her very foothills."

By some legerdemain this last summer La Crescenta has been passing through the crucial period of her history as to the water problem. This we learned directly from one who knows, he having been connected with the water interests there for several years. There is going on at the present time a sort of "water famine" in that hill city. Forsooth, what can the reason be for such a condition? Some real reason must be back of it, for during the past 15 years, according to my informant, there has never been such a condition known in the La Crescenta Valley.

Isn't the pump running day and night? Isn't there plenty of water in the well? Are the natural gravity streams flowing forth from the mountain sides drying up? "Now you know La Crescenta had such a small amount of rainfall last winter and that accounts for the shortage," is the way the annexation propagandists are impressing upon the folks up there who are not "in" as to the "real reason" they are suffering for the want of water.

It is a fact there was not a summer for the past 15 years, until this, that La Crescenta has been as "dry." It is so peculiar that this summer should be so extra "dry" when during the past 15 years some winters totaled up far less rainfall than this past winter, and yet the following summer season the pipes were always full of water and in some instances hydrants were left running day and night, and yet there was no "kick" from the water company. But now things are quite different. So many hours mornings and afternoons the people are allowed to use the water for fear of it giving out entirely. For some reason they must be saving of the water this summer. Trees, shrubbery, lawns and crops have suffered for the want of water this summer, yet in none of the seasons for the previous 15 years was such a condition known to the residents of La Crescenta.

Los Angeles has promised, has promised, that section her "Owens River water" providing they annex, and if they do, they shall never know another "water famine?" How fine! While at the same time just this summer many of her ranchers in the San Fernando Valley are unable to secure the amount of water they actually need, though they live nearer the great reservoir than the city of La Crescenta. The logical question answered by a Sixth Grader, is, how can Los Angeles promise a community she is so very anxious to incorporate within her city limits a very necessary thing, at the same time denying a section the very thing already within her limits and nearer the source of supply? That's a simple question, easily answered.

Again, why can't the pump at West La Crescenta and the free flowing streams from the mountains furnish all the water needed this summer for La Crescenta? That is the crux. The "annexation propaganda" is on this summer, you know, and Los Angeles and some of the citizens of La Crescenta greatly interested in annexation, it is patent to all right-thinking La Crescenta citizens, have planned to force the citizens of La Crescenta to complain against the water company because of their apparent inability to deliver the amount of water promised and needed for all practical purposes this summer, and at the same time encourage those feeling this water-need to look to the "promises" of Los Angeles for all the water they can use if only they will annex. What about that pump at West La Crescenta? It is stated on the strongest authority that pump is not running more than half the time. What is the matter? Is the water giving out? Are there much-needed repairs on that pump and the same fails to do its full duty when the citizens of La Crescenta pay for its running full time? For the last 15 years water never seemed to be in greater demand than it is this summer. Does any one interested in that "hill city" need a knock on the head with a sledge-hammer to understand what is going wrong up there? Just remember the annexation propaganda is going on up there, and the proceedings need some "oil," so there will not be so much "friction." Wide-awake citizens have the strongest feeling that word has been passed along the line to force La Crescenta into Los Angeles by causing a temporary "water famine." There are "tricks in all trades but ours!" "Oh ye gods and little fishes," "mummies" and "drowned cats," where is the patriotic spirit and unselfish interest of corporations and trusted men? After all who is a "safe man" to guide the destinies of communities?

Glendale is not blind to the fact that Los Angeles is using La Crescenta to get into Glendale's "back yard." She is aware of the threatening isolation from all surrounding country, and the serious attempt on the part of Los Angeles to maroon her completely, geographically. Thus Los Angeles aims to make the isolation of Glendale so complete she will be compelled to become annexed and finally "get her" as the goblins did the little boy. "Wise guy, she!" Let us sleep with our eyes open! Mountainous debts and paper promises do not clear Glendale's horizon when it comes to talking annexation with Los Angeles. We hope our city officials have such high regard for the trust and confidence of this city of Glendale in them, that every offer and approach made by annexation propagandists will be deemed as an insult to their integrity. Thus every avenue of approach to the heart of Glendale must be watched with sacred jealousy when it comes to surrendering her independence, her multitude of advantages as a separate city from Los Angeles. There is not a single thing Los Angeles has to offer Glendale as a safe, sane and reasonable inducement to "quit the home of her first love" for a spouse whose very nature is to domineer, soothe all fears by all sorts of promises until at the last "it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." And that will be "the portion of our cup" as sure as two and two make four. Glendale, heed the warning of La Crescenta and other surrounding cities and determine to work out your own destiny to the glory and complete satisfaction of all your most loyal and patriotic citizens.

50,000 Dealers Sell Goodrich Tires

The Army of Goodrich Dealers, ready to furnish the User with Goodrich Tires wherever he is, or wherever he goes, means many significant things to him—above other things, a widespread approval of Goodrich Tires.

But first it means that 50,000 dealers, more than half in the country, have confidence in Goodrich and Goodrich Tires; that 50,000 men whose business it is to know tires, believe in the skill and sincerity of Goodrich tire making, and the certainty of Goodrich tires making good in road performance.

Furthermore, the Dealer like the User, is safeguarded by the frank open-handed certification of Goodrich's More-Mileage Adjustment — 6,000 Miles for Fabric Tires—8,000 miles for Silvertown Cords.

The Goodrich Certification measures out—as everything else you buy is measured, the minimum you, with proper usage, get from Goodrich Tires.

Finally, 50,000 Dealers enlisted to furnish America with Goodrich Tires because they were first to know what the whole motoring world now knows and says—prodigal with, presenting them to steamship passengers in great quantities. They refuse to accept money but will consent to receive presents, especially bright bits of cloth and knives. A stay of 24 hours was made at Papeete and then the voyage was resumed. The 180th degree of longitude was crossed during the journey and a whole day was gained. Of course, on the way back a day was lost so that evened it. The next stop after Papeete was at Baratonga, one of the Cook Islands, which belong to England. The stay here was but eight hours and then the last lap of the journey was begun. Wellington, New Zealand, was sighted on the 26th day out from San Francisco. This city is on North Island, at the southernmost point. The passage across to South Island took from 8 p. m. till 11 a. m. of the next day, as the distance between the islands is 200 miles or more. Landing was made at Littleton, on South Island, after a very rough voyage and the journey from there to Christchurch, the home of Mrs. Flower's sister, whom she had not seen for 38 years, was made by train. The roads are not as good as California's, Mrs. Flower says, and the winters are considerably cooler. They got there the last of May, almost at the beginning of winter, which, of course, comes at the same time of our summer. There was only one snow, about four inches in depth, during the entire time they were there. Ranges of hills form the backbone of South Island and from them scores of little rivers run to the surrounding ocean. Innumerable cattle and sheep dot the hillsides and feed on the rich green grass of the summer months and the thick dry tufts of winter grass, which seem equally as nourishing. Mrs. Flower says the New Zealand mutton has a most agreeable flavor never found in the American product.

A visit was made to Akaroa Harbor, some distance southeast of Christchurch. It is a narrow inlet extending far into the land and running almost parallel to the coast. A most delightful sail was enjoyed by the party over the waters of this inlet, the boat going in and out of the many little indentations. They went on down to Dunedin, near the bottom of South Island, also.

Mrs. and Miss Flower arrived at Christchurch just a few days after the son of the house returned from more than four years of service in the great war. He and his buddie were Nos. 15 and 17 in order of enlistment of the Anzacs, as the detachments of New Zealand and Australian troops who saw such hard service in the Galilpoli peninsula were called. He was wounded soon after he set foot on that tongue of land of which there are so many tragic memories, and was sent to London to get well. He went from there to Egypt and served in other fields, also, before the war ended.

We, in America, are apt to think of New Zealand as lying close to the coast of Australia, and so it appears from a casual glance at the map. But it is 1400 miles from Wellington to the nearest Australian port. New Zealand is one of the most thoroughly union laborized countries in the world, and strikes there are occurring constantly. This past winter, June, July and August, the coal miners were almost continually on strike and people suffered greatly with the cold. A great shipping strike had commenced before the ladies started home and a complete tie-up of travel between there and America was expected soon.

They started from Wellington on August 11th, made the same two stops as on the outgoing trip and made it in 24 days. Arriving in San Francisco they were met by Jesse, who had driven up in an auto to meet them, and they came home with him.

Akaroa Harbor, mentioned above, had one rather thrilling experience in its history. The English had owned North Island, the capital city of which is Aukland, for many years prior to 1869, when France made an attempt to claim South Island. A vessel was dispatched, secretly, to take possession of Akaroa Harbor and hoist the French flag in token of France's sovereignty over all of South Island. England got wind of it in some way and started a swift vessel to the point to forestall France's plan. The English vessel sailed into the harbor just ahead of the French and claimed sovereignty. France yielded gracefully and was granted some valuable concessions.

Mrs. Flower was much taken with the Maoris, the natives of New Zealand, whom she describes as the highest type of the black races known. Singularly, the Australian natives, their nearest neighbors, are among the most degraded. The Maoris are well formed, tall and straight and bear themselves as self-respecting men and women. They all own little properties and they intermarry with the English people. On board the steamer coming home Mrs. Flower noticed a company of six Maoris, men and women, who had a Chautauqua engagement of a year in America, and they gave a number of very interesting exhibitions during the passage. They expect to visit Los Angeles during their itinerary.

Mrs. Flower discovered soon after leaving San Francisco on the outbound trip that the English people on board the Manoa, which was an English ship, had considerable feeling against Americans and this she noticed in New Zealand as well and from remarks she heard she attributed it to resentment against America for not entering the war sooner and thus saving thousands of British lives. This feeling had arisen, in the opinion of Mrs. Flower, over a misapprehension, the common run of the English and the people of their colonies seemingly having a fixed belief that America had been a party to the entente agreement that had bound England, France and Belgium in a common cause and which Italy subscribed to when she broke away from the Central Powers. But while she was in New Zealand a leading newspaper there published a flat denial of this theory and said that America was not treaty bound to come to the rescue of the Allies. After that publication, she said, she noticed a fairer tone in the comment she heard.

Mrs. Flower said she would not care to take such a trip again, but Miss Anna May said she would be glad to, as she enjoyed every minute of it. Everywhere they went in New Zealand they discovered that the people had a lively curiosity about California and as soon as it was learned where their home was they were besieged with questions about the land of sunshine and flowers. New Zealand is now importing the most of her supplies from this country, goods which formerly were all bought in England.
